What you'll need:

- Bumblebee bingo cards, 1 per player or per team
- Pencil

How to play:

The aim of the game is to find all six species of bumblebees pictured on your card. The first person or team to find all six species shouts “Bumblebee bingo” and is the winner!

Print off your bumblebee bingo cards.

The game is played outside where you can find bumblebees, such as in a garden or local park.

When you find a bumblebee, use your bingo card to identify it.

Cross off each picture on the card as you find each species.

Carry on until you've found all six bumblebee species.

Shout “Bumblebee bingo” when you've crossed off all six species to win the game!

Tips:

To find bumblebees, have a look at flowers as they visit them for food.

Look at a mixture of different kinds of flowers to find all bumblebee species.
